

Fuchsia

Fuchsia

Fuchsia coccinea

Description

- A low-growing, scrambling shrub with slight stems
- The leaves are about 5cm long and with red veins
- Flowers are pink and are produced mainly in winter
- Needs dense undergrowth and moisture to thrive

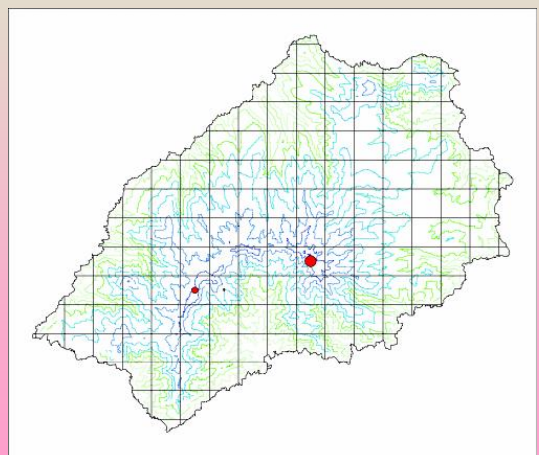

Photo: Andrew Darlow

Photo: Andrew Darlow

Distribution

- It is now wild among the Tree Ferns above 700m on the central ridge
- It is not found below 500m

Habitat

Habitat includes:

- Tall semi-woody alien stands
- Alien thickets/hedges
- Tree-fern thicket